

Dilas[®]

Dutch Industrial & Logistics Association

For a sustainable spatial development
of the Netherlands

What does Dilas do?

Dilas is the national connector, dialogue and knowledge partner between all involved parties in the logistics and industrial (real estate) chain. We aim to provide solutions for societal challenges and add value by means of logistics and industrial real estate. This includes, for example, the thoughtful spatial integration of large-scale commercial spaces, with both economic and societal benefits. Our commitment is focused on the sustainable and responsible development of this sector.

“By collectively addressing issues related to spatial planning, energy, labor, and climate, we discover that various functions can coexist harmoniously and be effectively combined.”

Our ambitions

- We provide innovative and sustainable players in the logistics and industrial real estate sector with a recognizable identity and voice.
- We promote the economic and societal importance of logistics for our society.
- We strive to find solutions for societal challenges that affect the logistics and industrial real estate sector.
- We aim for constructive collaboration with the government and stakeholders in the logistics and industrial real estate sector to be an integral part of area-based developments.
- As a knowledge partner, we aim to quickly and accurately address topics and potentially have a significant impact on the sector.
